INTRODUCTION

This service pack extends the options available for the 'Copy long descriptions at order entry' system parameter to include an option that prevents product long descriptions being copied to SOP transaction line comments.

Prior to this service pack, the 'Copy long descriptions at order entry' system parameter had two settings.

- When set, product long descriptions were copied to transaction line comments as the line is entered (via Sales Order Entry or the Transaction Desktop).
- When not set, product long descriptions were copied to transaction line comments if the line comments option is chosen in Sales Order Entry or the Transaction Desktop.

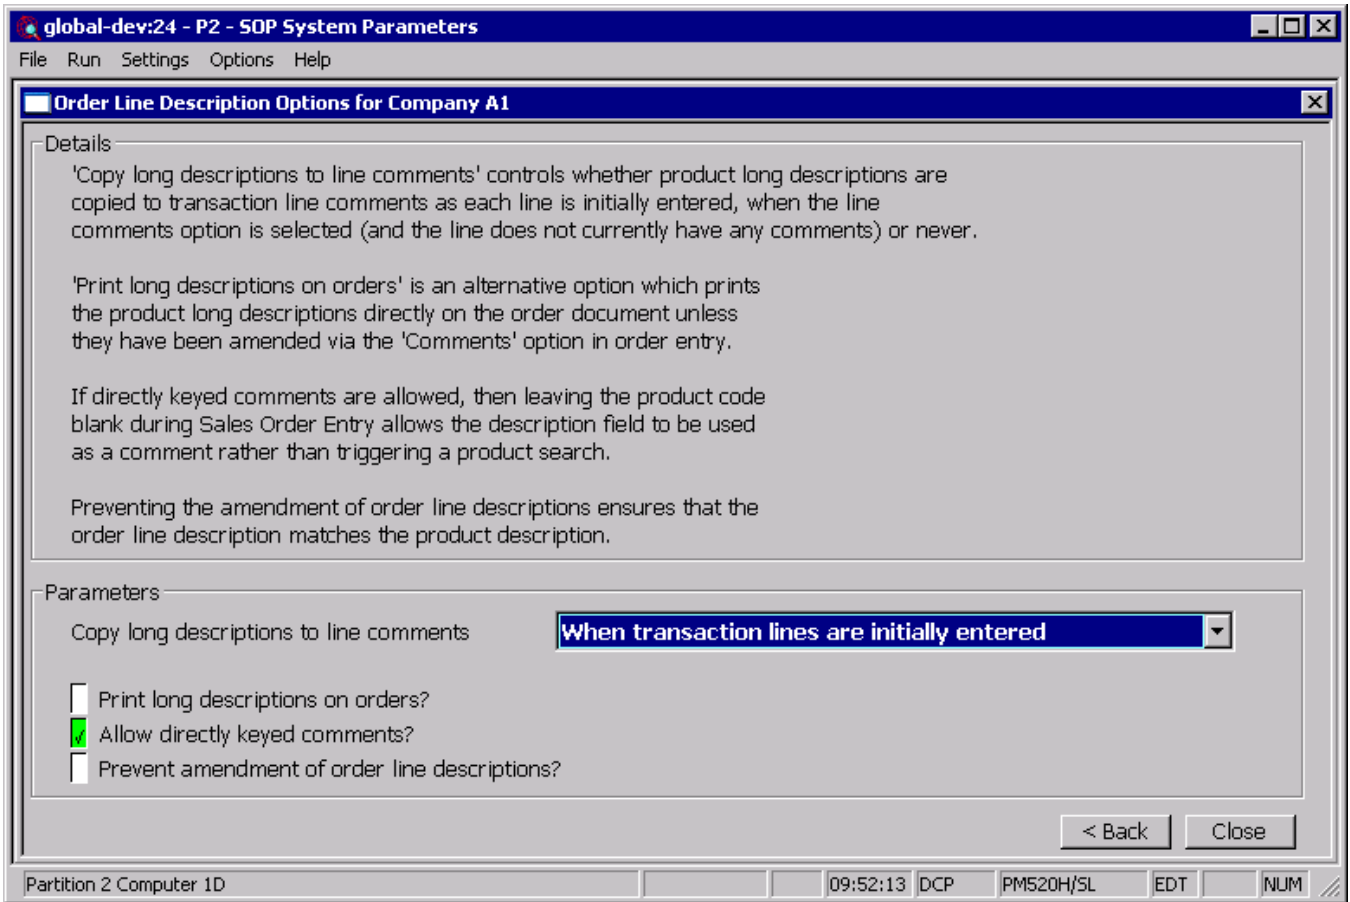

This did not provide the user with a way of configuring the system such that product long descriptions are never copied to transaction line comments.

This service pack renames the 'Copy long descriptions at order entry' system parameter as 'Copy long descriptions to line comments'. Rather than simply being a parameter that can be either set or not set, the newly named parameter has the following three options.

- When transaction lines are initially entered.
- When the transaction line comments option is selected.
- Never.

Order Line Description Options Window

Copy long descriptions to line comments

This controls whether or not product long descriptions are copied to transaction line comments. It has the following three possible settings:

- When transaction lines are initially entered. This automatically copies product long descriptions to transaction line comments as each transaction line is entered.
- When the transaction line comments option is selected. This copies product long descriptions to transaction line comments when the transaction line comments option is selected and the transaction line does not have any existing comments.
- Never. Product long descriptions are never copied to transaction line comments.

Note

When product long descriptions are copied to transaction line comments the lines of description are available for amendment via the line comments option.
